

Voice from within: Not at all, but you should divert the major portion of your thoughts to the purpose suggested. If you fail to do so, you will bring misery to yourself, and deprive others of knowledge which you should impart to them through the LAW OF SUCCESS.

The author: I haven't the money with which to publish the LAW OF SUCCESS philosophy.

Voice from within: That is no excuse. You may have all the money you need for this, and for every other purpose, provided you are willing to accept advice and follow it.

The author: I am willing to accept advice and I will follow it. Give me instructions, and I will follow them to the letter.

Voice from within: Very well, your willingness to follow instructions is all that you need for the present. Are you ready to receive your instructions?

The author: I am ready.

Voice from within: You will find it difficult at first to follow your instructions, because you will have to change completely your habits. The reward which awaits you, if you follow instructions faithfully, however, is worth all the effort you will devote to the task. Here are your instructions:

First. In the future, you shall devote as much time and effort to serving others, through the LAW OF SUCCESS philosophy, as you have devoted in the past to indulgence in personal pleasures.

Second. Proceed at once to the task of writing the LAW OF SUCCESS philosophy. When the manuscripts have been completed, you will receive further instructions for their publication.

Third. Upon publication of the LAW OF SUCCESS, philosophy you will receive instructions for the writing of other books. Carry out those instructions as soon as you receive them.
