Last month he received his degree one day and went to work the next as a management trainee for a large corporation.

Where there's a will, there is a way.

Believe it can be done. That's basic to creative thinking. Here are suggestions to help you develop creative power through belief:

1. Eliminate the word impossible from your thinking and speaking vocabularies. Impossible is a failure word. The thought "It's impossible" sets off a chain reaction of other thoughts to prove you're right.
2. Think of something special you've been wanting to do but felt you couldn't. Now make a list of reasons why you can do it. Many of us whip and defeat our desires simply because we concentrate on why we can't when the only thing worthy of our mental concentration is why we can.

Recently I read a newspaper item that said there are too many counties in most states. The article pointed out that most county boundaries were established decades before the first automobile was built and while the horse and buggy was the chief mode of travel. But today, with fast automobiles and good roads, there is no reason why three or four counties could not be combined. This would cut down greatly on duplicated services so that taxpayers would actually get better service for less money.

The writer of this article said he thought he had stumbled across a really live idea, so he interviewed thirty people at ran-
